

Harrisburg CIPS Employees Receive Safety Awards

HARRISBURG GROUP EMPLOYEES of Central Illinois Public Service Co. were presented another safety award today. The group employees have worked 246,583 man hours since their last lost-time accident in January, 1946—11 years ago. The award was presented today by William Luecke, Southern Division manager for CIPS, with offices in Marion, with William Hopkins, group superintendent accepting the certificate. Seated, left to right, Mildred Booten, Wilma Grable, Sally Schwartz and Imogene Raymer; standing, left to right, Claude Heilig, W. E. Musgrove, Thomas E. Stinson, Walter Erwin, Leon Jones, Mr. Hopkins, Albert Kerns, Jack Brown and Mr. Luecke.

SOUTHERN DIVISION LINE CREW of CIPS, working out of Harrisburg, have worked more than a year without a lost-time accident—the last accident occurring in October, 1955. Bill Holman, crew chief, accepted a safety certificate for the crew, also presented by Mr. Luecke. Members of the crew present this morning were R. C. Adams, Harry Johnson, Carl Patton, Pearl Peterson and Charles C. James. Other member of crew—Gwenn Owen, was ill and not able to attend the ceremonies. (Daily Register Staff Photos)

Raises Question on Width of Bridges

THE NEW INTERSTATE highway program, which will bring four-lane highways to our country, has created considerable interest in these parts, specifically because it's definite there'll be one from Cairo to Chicago running through Williamson and Franklin counties. And now since we're on the subject, I might say that I was reading the other day where this program has raised a question of how wide to build the bridges on them.

The publication, Engineering News-Record, reports that bridges too narrow to cope with today's streams of speeding traffic constitute a road hazard that becomes increasingly more significant as the program gets under way.

"Bridge building has come a long way since the days when every bridge represented a narrow place in the road to drivers," the publication says. "Modern design calls for any bridge of less than 150 feet long to be made the full width of the highway pavement plus its shoulders—which is progress over the old days when not even the full pavement width was accorded room on many bridges.

"Yet," the article continues, "on modern longer structures, some of this ancient practice still is in vogue; the width of the pavement is carried across the bridge but not the shoulders."

10,000-Ton Ship Was Being Readied For Mid-East Use

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Welders' torches may have touched off petroleum fumes aboard the oil tanker S. S. Jeanny, causing a series of explosions and a fire that killed nine men and injured nearly 50, a spokesman for Todd Shipyards said today.

The spokesman said the fumes may have been trapped in a tank next to the boiler room of the 10,000-ton ship, which was being readied for use in the Mid-East oil crisis.

"That tank may have contained fuel oil," the spokesman said. "If

Local Kiwanians To Visit Cairo Club Next Tuesday

Members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club will attend a meeting of the Cairo club next Tuesday evening, Feb. 5, to take the traveling gavel to the Cairo club. The traveling gavel is used by Kiwanis clubs of Division 16 to stimulate interclub attendance and is awarded to the club with the largest percentage of attendance and distance traveled during the year.

Local members will leave the Masonic temple at 4:15 p. m. next Tuesday by bus to attend the meeting in a group.

President Richard Davenport is urging a 100 per cent attendance on that evening that the local club may be the winner of the gavel this year.

In a very enjoyable address last night Dr. Warren D. Tuttle discussed the habits of wild geese and the pleasures received in hunting from the blinds.

it was the first to blow up, as we suspect, the fuel probably fed the fire that followed the initial explosion.

Six of the dead were found huddled in a corner of the boiler room, their hideously charred bodies resembling the victims of an atomic blast. The bodies of three others were removed from an adjacent hold.

Many Injured Critical
Many of the injured were in critical condition. They suffered terrible agony. The limbs of some were nearly ripped off by the force of the explosion while others were so badly burned "that skin was falling from their faces and arms."

The accident took place Tuesday at 3:10 p. m. while nearly 250 workmen were aboard.

It was like being hit in the face with a giant fist," said Lee Kilpatrick, 46, of Oakland, one of the injured workmen.

"The explosion sounded like a bomb. It knocked me down on a catwalk on the bottom deck of the ship."

Eugene Fitch, 37, Oakland, an electrician, said "there must have been a hundred of us" in the engine and boiler rooms.

Lights Go Out
"I was standing with two or three other men. All of a sudden there was a boom and I was knocked down. The lights went out and my glasses and face were covered with oil."

It was discovered later that the force of the explosion hurled a worker against the light panel, wrecking the switches.

Senate Votes Emergency Funds for SIU

$400,000 Bill Is Approved by 42 to 0 Vote

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Senate today passed 42-0 a $400,000 emergency appropriation for Southern Illinois University.

The Senate also approved and sent to the House a bill to permit the Chicago Sanitary District to issue six million dollars in bonds to assure completion of widening of the Cal-Sag Channel.

A bill for a $260,000 deficiency appropriation for the Statehouse Commission, which stirred up charges of extravagance in furnishing a lounge for legislators, was not called for passage, and remained on the calendar for next week.

The SIU and Statehouse Commission money bills were moved to passage stage Tuesday in a session devoted largely to saying "yes" to requests for more money.

The $260,000 bill for the Statehouse Commission to complete renovation of the Capitol brought from Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill (R-Downers Grove) the remark that "I've never seen a time with so many deficiency appropriations coming up."

She also commented caustically that the commission went "overboard" in furnishing the legislators' lounge and that "I never contemplated such palatial quarters."

A Springfield firm, Design House, was granted a $196,000 contract by the commission to furnish the plush lounge.

Belgrade Paper Hints Tito Will Cancel Planned Trip to Washington

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The Communist Party newspaper Borba strongly hinted today President Tito will cancel his planned visit to Washington because of anti-Yugoslav sentiment in the United States.

A special article written by Borba's foreign political editor, Jozef Smole, took particular notice of reports the United States planned to slip Tito in and out of Washington while Congress was in recess so he would not have to address the lawmakers.

"It is to be expected that our government, if it has not done so already, will inform the American government clearly that in such circumstances the visit cannot be carried out," the newspaper said.

Borba did not say flatly Tito had cancelled the visit officially, but since it is the official Commu-

Stratton to Decide Steps for SIU To Assist Shurtleff Operation

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton will decide some time this week what steps Southern Illinois University may take to assist Shurtleff College at Alton to continue operation.

Stratton met Tuesday with SIU President Delyte W. Morris and other university and college officials to discuss the Shurtleff problem, along with a general appraisal of the problems of higher education in the state.

The governor called the Tuesday conference after he met last week with representatives of Shurtleff College who asked that some arrangements be made to continue the Alton institution as a part of SIU.

Stratton said after the conference he would decide "within a couple of days" what can be done at this time by SIU to continue operation of Shurtleff College.

Strike at Guided Missile Plant

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—Some 900 non-union workers went on strike at the nation's top-secret guided missile firing range early today and picketed entrances of two government bases.

Scores of pickets manned entrances to Patrick, embracing a vast missile assembly area, and to the storage and firing reservation at nearby Cape Canaveral on the Florida east coast.

A civilian spokesman said the strike will not interfere with any test firings now scheduled.

A spokesman for Pan American World Airways, chief civilian contractor at the facilities, called the strike "illegal" and said the workers will be fired if the strike continues.

The strike was called "by surprise" last midnight EST and pickets appeared in droves at each of four entrances to the bases in time to meet pre-dawn shifts with their "on strike" placards.

The non-union employees, who said they were protesting a denial of a right to vote on a prospective union affiliation, comprise about 65 per cent of the entire personnel of the missile firing operation.

Appellate Court Upholds Circuit Jury Verdict

The Fourth District Appellate Court at Mt. Vernon has affirmed a jury verdict of the circuit court of Saline county which awarded a total of $9,000 to Zula B. Davis and C. C. Fenwick.

Word of the affirmation has been received here by Arlie O. Boswell, attorney for the plaintiffs. It came after two trials before juries in circuit court here.

Mrs. Davis was awarded $3,000 and Mr. Fenwick was awarded $6,000 from the Blue Bird Coal Co. in their lawsuit to recover damages to growing timber on their lands. They charged mineral impurities which the defendant permitted to drain onto their premises from its washer plant killed the timber.

The Davis acreage involved was 80 acres, the Fenwick acreage 160, Atty. Boswell stated. It is in the southwest part of Carrier Mills township.

The lawsuit first was tried before Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion in 1955. The jury returned a verdict to give Mrs. Davis $3,000 and Mr. Fenwick $6,000 for damages. However, upon motion by the defense attorneys, D. F. Rumsey and Traflet Dennis, Zimmerman granted a new trial.

The case was retried by a jury before Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna in 1956 and the jury returned the same $3,000 and $6,000 verdict as a previous jury had done.

The defense attorneys appealed this verdict to the appellate court and yesterday the ruling was received.

"The case was fairly tried and accordingly should be affirmed," the decision concluded.

Men Certainly No Slackers, President Says

Chief Executive Defends Conferences With King Saud

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's "draft-dodging" statement about the National Guard was very unwise.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that the man who joined the National Guard certainly could not have been slackers when they entered the Guard under proper provisions of law.

He said he did not believe that Wilson wanted to damage the National Guard, but he thought his secretary of defense certainly made a very unwise statement without stopping to think.

Wilson told a House Armed Services subcommittee Monday that the National Guard was a "sort of scandal" during the Korean War; that some young men were using it as a "draft-dodging business."

Wilson stuck to his charge Tuesday after a conference with Mr. Eisenhower. Wilson told reporters his language may have been tough but that it was accurate account of the situation.

Other highlights of the President's meeting with reporters today:

1. He strongly defended his conferences here with King Saud of Saudi Arabia and the possible visit of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to this country. He said he deplored any discourtesy shown to visitors who come here as representatives of governments and in an effort to ameliorate difficulties. This was a reference to New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner's snub to Saud Tuesday.

2. He said he would not run again even if Congress changed the 22nd amendment which limits a President to two terms in office.

3. He was unrestrained in his praise of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. As for Democratic charges that Dulles' actions in the past had contributed to Middle East difficulties, the President said vehemently that Dulles never had taken any action that he had not approved in advance.

4. He said that Democratic criticisms of administration foreign policy—those who talked about great

Wilson Statement Against Guard Untrue, Boyle Says

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Maj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle took Defense Secretary Charles Wilson to task today for his "draft dodger" statement concerning the National Guard.

Boyle, Illinois adjutant general, said Wilson's statement was untrue and unwarranted and cast a reflection on the character, integrity, and patriotism of the officers and men of the organization.

"During the Korean emergency 9,533 men of the Illinois National Guard army and air force, were called to active duty in the federal service," Boyle said. He said 26 Guardsmen were killed in action in Korea.

"I am sure our citizens, their representatives in the Legislature and the Congress . . . will, with righteous indignation, deeply resent these statements," Boyle said.

The Dogged Postmen

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

We haven't read any reports by management specialists which would tell us clearly whether the Post Office Department is or is not more efficiently run since the Republicans took over in 1953.

But in all fairness we've got to give the department good marks for imaginative effort in certain directions.

For one thing, there's all that bright paint.

They've spruced up the mail trucks in red, white and blue, so they no longer look like prison vans. And they've daubed the mail boxes in red and blue so even the blearest eye can spot them a block away.

Then there's this matter of dogs biting the postmen on their daily rounds.

The department tried everything on the dogs from candy to kind words, without avail.

But the agency was not without further resource.

It hired Clarence Harbison, dog psychologist, to be consultant on "problem dogs." He's been on the job only half a year, but he's already come up with some answers that may keep a lot of mailmen's legs off the critical list.

In Harbison's view, it's not wholly the dogs' fault that they bite postmen. The dogs' owners may be more to blame for not treating sensitive canines with more understanding.

He points out that, like humans, dogs get bored. You can't coo them up all day without anything to do and expect them to behave. If they get restless, they can't turn on TV or pick up a book.

What he seems to be saying is that you've got to plan your dog's day, to keep him busy.

"Leave him a bone to gnaw on," says Harbison to those who would thoughtlessly leave the hound home alone in a room.

The penalty for ignoring the dog's need for attention is that man's best friend, moved by pent-up energy and perhaps a spirit of revenge, attacks the leg of the first friend he sees. More often than not it's the mailman.

These days Harbison is touring the country telling school kids and their parents how to take care of a dog so he won't be enraged when he gets a glimpse of postman's gray.

It'll be interesting to see how his experiment makes out. But, succeed or fail, we have to admire the Post Office Department for daring to bring psychology into it.

There's more than maulage behind that three-cent stamp.

New Chapter for GOP

People interested in the nation's changing political patterns will follow closely the performance of the Republican party's new national chairman, H. Meade Alcorn Jr. of Connecticut.

His most distinguishing characteristic politically is his clear alignment with the Eisenhower branch of the GOP. The retiring chairman, Leonard Hall, was basically identified with the Eisenhower forces, but always managed to keep effective lines open to the more conservative elements.

Since Alcorn was the President's personal choice, it must be presumed that he and his principal backers now believe they can put the Eisenhower stamp more firmly on the Republican party.

Obviously they have taken encouragement on this point from the President's overwhelming reelection, in which for the second time he vastly outdistanced most other GOP candidates.

Naturally, the party's right wing representatives have not tossed in the towel. They are still strongly planted in many places, and will be fighting to restore their position in others as the elections of 1958 and 1960 come closer.

The kind of candidate, the party presents to the voters in those battles will supply the real measure of the extent to which Mr. Eisenhower has succeeded in making the GOP in his image. Alcorn's appointment was not the first step in this task, and it is certainly far from the last.

OUT OUR WAY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: King Saud Spends Most Of Huge Oil Royalty On His Far-Flung Household; Poverty In Saudi Arabia Could Bring Communism; Slave Trade Still Flourishes.

WASHINGTON. — King Saud of Saudi Arabia is a six-foot-six-inch Arab, 55-years old, wearing a light yellow coat, brown suede shoes, a goatee, and eye-glasses, having forty sons and a royal household with wives, concubines, slaves, royal retainers, and guards of reportedly around 10,000 people.

He is bringing one of his youngest sons, 5-year old Prince Mansur, to the United States to see if American doctors can help his crippled hand. He is bringing two wives. Remarkable a courtier: "There are beautiful women in the United States."

There are only 200 miles of paved road in Saudi Arabia, but the country has 250 Cadillacs. The king owns quite a few of these elite cars and once gave a tip to the servants in Iran who took care of him on a visit there, two Cadillacs, one Chevrolet, and $80,000.

The king's annual income from the Arabian-American Oil Company is estimated at around $300,000,000. However, he has budget problems.

Of this huge income, the king spends $36,000,000 on defense, though his country is surrounded by friendly Arab neighbors. He also spends $24,000,000 on what is called internal security, which chiefly goes to Arabian tribesmen to maintain their loyalty. Another $1,000,000 goes for what is called "general development," which reportedly is the improvement of palaces.

Only $10,700,000 goes to health, education, and social services all combined, with the most of the balance going to the king's own far-flung retinue.

ARABIAN POVERTY

This gets to the heart of the most difficult problem facing the United States and President Eisenhower in the talks with King Saud. For, while the king and the President are both anxious to combat communism in Saudi Arabia, the biggest breeder of communism is the poverty of the Arabian people, which today are heavily tubercular, about 40 per cent syphilitic, and 70 per cent suffering from trachoma.

To combat this, the king has established only ten primary schools in his entire nation of nearly 7,000,000 people, and only two high schools.

President Eisenhower may consider it indicative to make any suggestions to him about this internal problem; yet disease, poverty and ignorance are always the biggest breeders of communism.

It's reported that the king wants to secure some American cash because his royalties have dwindled as a result of the Suez stoppage. How far Eisenhower and the State Department will go in suggesting that part of this money be spent on the Arabian masses, will be important to observe. At one time, Vice President Henry Wallace, then head of the Board of Economic Warfare, required that part of the money for American tin purchases in Bolivia go toward the betterment of Bolivian miners.

So far, however, both the Eisenhower administration and the Arabian-American Oil Company have shied away from giving too many hints to King Saud about how he should spend either his oil royalties or American aid. In fact, the Eisenhower administration took the unusual stand of declining to sign a United Nations treaty to outlaw slavery, reportedly as a result of the sensitivity of King Saud.

ARAB SLAVE TRADE

This is the most shocking chapter in both the life of Saudi Arabia and to some extent in our relations with that country. The reports of the United Nations and the Anti-Slavery Society of London show that approximately half a million slaves are held in Saudi Arabia, most of them from Africa.

Arab slave traders for years have done a lucrative business carrying slaves from as far away as French Equatorial Africa to Saudi Arabia. In some cases, Negroes have been traded for guns. In other cases, Moslem Negroes have been promised a free trip to Mecca thereby ensuring that they will have a place in paradise. They have climbed happily aboard the slave-traders' trucks, journeyed to Arabia, and once there, have been arrested for illegal entry and sold on the slave market.

Female Negroes under fifteen sell for anywhere between $400 to $1,100, males for $400 to $500. UN reports tell of older slaves set free, because they are a burden on their owners, and allowed to starve in the streets of Saudi Arabian cities. On the other hand, King Ibn Saud, father of the king who is now visiting the United States, is credited with an edict requiring slave-owners to protect and support their slaves in their declining years.

The question of slavery was debated extensively at Geneva by the United Nations last August and September, and a convention finally adopted abolishing it. The United States, however, took an amazing position. It refused to sign. Russia, Red China, and most of the other important countries of the world signed. But not the United States.

Walter Kotschnig, representative of the United States, explained that while the United States abhorred slavery, his government doubted "the efficacy of any new convention." Then he proceeded to give the shocking excuse that to sign such a treaty would interfere with the internal affairs of other countries—in other words, with the right of Saudi Arabia to carry on slavery.

"Many of the provisions of the proposed new convention," said Mr. Kotschnig, "deal with subjects generally conceded to be in the area of domestic jurisdiction. 'Better results might be achieved through public debate which would bring the weight of world opinion on short comings,' he said. He also suggested 'educational measures . . . and possibly economic or other assistance.'"

"On behalf of my government I wish this conference every success," he said. But he abstained from voting for the treaty outlawing an institution over which the United States had fought a long and bloody war.

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

"Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the earth." It is odd that this bit of scripture is so widely disregarded.

The meek, the humble and the unselfish think little of amassing any earthly inheritance. The egotistical, the self-centered, and the autocratic devote endless time and attention to material acquisition.

Dictators set out to bring the earth and its inhabitants under their control. They may think they have success because for a few moments they are able to draw lines on maps or command human submission.

This material domination is very temporary and fleeting. Only the meek, the Godly, and the loving will inherit the earth or any other lasting portion of God's gifts to human kind.

Winners of the north-south pairs were Mrs. Leon Zwick of Herrin, and Mrs. Ken Butterfield, Harrisburg, first place; Morris Moore of Logan and Charles Helleny, Herrin, second place; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Frailey, Benton, third.

Of the east-west pairs in play, first place was won by Mrs. J. M. Burger and Mrs. Pauline Bolger of Marion; second place, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Giles of Marion; third place, Mrs. Isadore Goldsmith of Herrin, and partner.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. — Exodus 20:6. Even machinery needs rest. Time to reflect and weigh our thoughts and revise them. But we should get inspiration too on assembling with others who want to rise to the Sabbath day. We should not neglect higher things.

Two U.S. Military Attaches Ordered To Leave Russia

LONDON — Radio Moscow announced today two U. S. military attaches have been ordered to leave Russia, apparently in retaliation for the expulsion of Soviet officials from the United States.

The broadcast said a Soviet note demanded the "immediate departure" of Maj. Hubert Tansey and Capt. Charles W. Stockell, assistant military attaches assigned to the U. S. embassy in Moscow.

The note, handed today to Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, said the two men had been "engaging in activities incompatible with their status as diplomatic officials," Radio Moscow said.

"Their further stay in the U. S. S. R. is therefore undesirable" the note said.

Seven Hurt in Explosions, Fire At Whiting Plant

WHITING, Ind. — A series of explosions and fires destroyed a 10-story processing unit for high octane gasoline Tuesday night, causing at least a million dollars damage and injuring seven men.

The blasts ripped an alkylation unit shortly before midnight and sent rivers of flaming fuel coursing through the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana refinery, one of the nation's largest.

About 1,200 firemen battled the flames in near zero temperatures. Fire officials concentrated on containing the fire and let it burn itself out.

A. H. Hayes, assistant refinery superintendent, said that while it is difficult to estimate the damage, "it appears to be in the neighborhood of one million dollars."

Married Couples Advised To Figure Tax Both Ways To Get Best Return

By RUSSELL C. HARRINGTON
Commissioner of Internal Revenue
Written for United Press

WASHINGTON 19—Married couples usually can save money by filing a joint return instead of separate returns for their federal income tax. The only sure way to tell which method costs less is to figure the tax both ways.

The law allows you to file either jointly or separately in any year, whichever way you select. In other words, you are not bound to file jointly this year just because you did last year.

The same blank forms are used whether you file jointly or separately. Generally, if the combined income of husband and wife was less than $5,000, you can make the choice between the simple card Form 1040A or the longer Form 1040. If your income was $5,000 or more, you must file on Form 1040.

There are certain situations in which joint filings are forbidden. These happen in relatively few cases, but should be remembered. They are: If you were divorced or legally separated on or before Dec. 31, 1956; if you are married to a non-citizen who does not live in this country; or if you and your wife report your income on the basis of different tax years (that is, if you report your income on a 12-month period ending Oct. 31, for instance, and your wife uses the calendar year).

Even if your wife had no income at all, you may file a joint return. And if you didn't marry her until New Year's Eve—before midnight, of course—you may still file a joint return.

Both MUST Sign

If your wife worked a little during the year and earned less than $600, it will probably be to your advantage to file a joint return, rather than letting her file separately. She might get a refund by filing separately in this case, but you could not file a joint return and you would lose her as an exemption.

If your wife or husband died during the year and you did not remarry before the end of the year, you may file a joint return for the full year. And under certain circumstances the surviving spouse may claim the same income-splitting benefits of a joint return for the two years following.

When husband and wife file a joint return, both must sign the return and both become liable for any amount of tax owed.

In filing a joint return you add both the husband's and the wife's income and list the exemptions and deduction (standard or itemized) to which both are entitled. Special tax rates are provided for calculating the tax you owe if you file jointly. The rates are figured as if your joint income were split in half and you each paid the tax on one half.

Keep in mind if you file separate returns that if one of you itemizes his or her deductions the other must also itemize.

Whether filing jointly or separately, if you compute your tax and find you owe more tax, attach a check or a money order for the full amount due. Make it payable to "Internal Revenue Service" and send it with your return to the director of internal revenue for your district.

Selling a House

When you file jointly, you attach both the husband's and the wife's forms W-2 to the joint return. If your returns are separate, attach the right form to the right return.

One tax item which affects couples more often than it affects individuals is buying or selling a house.

As a general rule, if you sell your home or any other personal property, such as stocks or bonds, you must pay a tax on the profit you make. There is an exception which applies in certain cases where you sell your residence.

If you sold your home during 1956 for a higher price than you paid in buying it and making improvements on it, you need not pay a tax on the profit if you buy another home within 12 months and pay as much or more for the new one as you got for the old one.

If you sold your home and are building a new one—rather than buying an existing home—you have 18 months instead of 12.

If you buy a new home for less than you sold the old one, you must pay tax on part, or all, of the profit from selling the old. If you owned the old home for more than six months, the tax may be at lower rates.

Report all of this in detail on a separate tax form, called Schedule D, and summarize it on Page 3 of Form 1040.

Witness Reports Drivers of Two Cars Tried to Pick Up Slain Girls

CHICAGO (AP)—A new witness told police today that the drivers of two cars apparently tried to pick up the slain Grimes sisters the night they disappeared.

Roger Menard, 19, a bank clerk, said he sat behind the girls at the Brighton theater the night of Dec. 28, and that they followed him from the movie about 11:30 p. m.

Police said it is possible the girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, were slain within an hour after that. Their bodies, nude and frozen, were found Jan. 22 in a snowy ditch on the outskirts of the city.

Menard said the girls walked along behind him on Archer Avenue. At an intersection, he said he heard a car brake to a stop and turned to see the girls talk with the car's occupants and giggle.

He described the car as a Buick, a 1951 to 1954 model. The car started up again and passed him going northeast on Archer, he said.

Heard Them Giggle
Menard said he stopped to gaze into a store window and the Grimes sisters passed him. Shortly afterward, he said, another car, a Mercury, pulled to a stop.

Again the girls exchanged remarks and giggles with the occupants, Menard said. He said he believed there were two teen-agers in the car.

Menard said the car drove away fast. A short time later he said he turned off Archer toward his home, and the Grimes girls continued northeast along the thoroughfare.

At that point, police said, the girls may have been less than an hour from death.

A surprise medical report after Tuesday's inquest into the deaths indicated that a skid row romeo was lying when he said he and an accomplice killed the girls Jan. 13 after a week-long sex and liquor orgy.

Instead, the findings of Dr. Walter Camp, state toxicologist, showed the girls apparently died about five hours after they left their home to attend an Elvis Presley movie Dec. 28.

Report Based on Food
Camp's report was based on tests of food particles found in Barbara's stomach. The foods were the same the girls' mother, Mrs. Loretta Grimes, served her daughters the night they disappeared.

Mrs. Grimes, who appeared at the hearing to "protect their honor," said Patricia had eaten little that night, which could account for the lack of food particles in her stomach.

The findings blasted the signed confession of Bennie (The Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, who said he and a man named "Frank" toured dingy skid row bars and cheap hotels with the girls for a week before dumping their bodies into a snow-filled ditch Jan. 13.

Seek Evidence of Poison
Bedwell also said the two girls had eaten hot dogs shortly before the slaying, but no trace of hot dog meat was found in the final stomach analysis.

Camp said a preliminary study also showed no indication of alcohol, which also disputed Bedwell's story.

Meeting Thursday Night for Eldorado Community Players
The Eldorado Art Center Community Players will hold an important meeting at the Art Center at 7 p. m. Thursday. The cast, production crew, and anyone who helped out with "The Mad Merriethers" is asked to be present at this meeting as plans are being made to present this play again.

Anyone interested in joining the players is urged to be present at this meeting, in order to get in on the planning of the year's activities. Also, anyone interested in forming a community band or orchestra is also asked to be at the meeting as a band is needed

Senate Votes SIU Emergency Funds

William J. Lynch, Chicago, also questioned Senate Commission Chairman Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph) closely about how and where money was spent on the Capitol renovation.

The $400,000 deficiency for Southern Illinois University was advanced to passage stage after SIU President Delyte W. Morris testified the money was needed to care for greatly increased enrollments. He said the university had to decide whether to deny admission to additional students or to admit them and hope the Legislature would supply the needed money.

The students were admitted and the money was needed, Morris said.

Also in Tuesday's session, the House passed the Senate a $30,150,000 emergency appropriation for the Public Aid Commission, including $10,000,000 for general relief, $14,450,000 for aid to dependent children and $5,700,000 for disability assistance.

At the same time a Senate bill was introduced that would raise the Illinois residence requirement for public aid from one year to three years. Some legislators have charged the one year requirement attracts to the state persons who wind up on relief.

Approves Money Transfer
The Senate, meanwhile, passed to the House a $369,259 deficiency appropriation to make up shortages left in the auditor's office by the Hodge scandal. The Senate also approved transfer of another $290,000 to help make up the shortages.

The House adopted a resolution by Rep. Alan J. Dixon (D-Belle-ville) asking Gov. William G. Stratton to cancel the special election he has called for Feb. 25 to elect a successor to late Supreme Court Justice Ralph Maxwell and to hold the election along with the regular judicial elections in June.

Dixon said the special election would cost about $200,000.

House Approves Mid-East Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today overwhelmingly approved President Eisenhower's "fight if we must" plan to protect the Middle East from Russian aggression.

Passage was by a roll call vote of 355-61.

Mr. Eisenhower requested the measure to strengthen his hand in dealing with the crisis in the oil-rich Middle East and the dangers of Communist penetration of the area.

The House voted him substantially what he asked:

1. Authority to use U. S. military forces, if necessary, to resist Communist aggression against any nation in the Middle East which seeks our help in meeting such an attack.

2. Authority to spend an extra 200 million dollars of U. S. economic aid for the area before June 30. No specific projects have been proposed, and virtually the only limitation on use of the money is that no Middle East country can receive more than 30 million dollars of it.

The House approved the resolution after rejecting, 191-45, a proposal to kill it by sending it back to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The resolution now goes to the Senate, where Dulles' policies also are under heavy Democratic attack.

Miss Mattie Shatteen, 55, of Ridgway Dies

Miss Shatteen was a life long resident of Ridgway.

Wilson Remark Very Unwise: Eisenhower

blunders—had failed to his knowledge to submit proposals of what should have been done in the Middle East, even with the benefit of hindsight. He said generalized attacks were easy to make.

5. Mr. Eisenhower indirectly rebuffed a statement by his disarmament adviser, Harold E. Stassen, that the Republicans might have won control of Congress if former Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts had been GOP vice presidential nominee instead of Richard M. Nixon. The President when asked about Stassen's assertion, replied that he was frequently amused during World War II when American forces had achieved results in battle that no one thought possible.

Invariably, he said, someone would come along after the battle to show how they might have won an even bigger victory.

Mr. Eisenhower's discussion of Wilson's remarks about the National Guard largely supported the defense secretary's position that the National Guard needs a more rigorous form of basic military training. But he openly quarreled with Wilson's choice of language.

Need Basic Training
He said that anything the leaders of the National Guard had done, to the extent of his knowledge, had been done under existing law which provides that young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ can enter the Guard directly.

He said he had struggled for years to make the Guard a first line of defense. But, he said, it was never going to be that kind of force, a force needed by this country in a day of increasingly complex and more deadly weapons, until the government could have these National Guard recruits undergo six months of hard, efficient and basic training.

Mr. Eisenhower said he felt certain this was Wilson's goal. But he thought Wilson had made a very unwise statement without stopping to think.

The President met with reporters less than an hour before he left for Washington National Airport to greet King Saud personally—an unprecedented gesture of hospitality by Mr. Eisenhower.

of modern traffic's density and speed, the practice of building bridges that do not equal the width of the road plus the shoulders creates a dangerous narrowing of the highway, particularly on approaches to long bridges.

"There is no place for stalled cars to park and no leeway for maneuver should it become necessary," the story says.

"The reason for keeping long bridges as narrow as possible is largely economic," it continues. "To increase bridge widths by 20 feet—two 10-foot shoulders—adds considerable to the cost. Yet, on highways costing up to and beyond a million dollars a mile, the relative price increase hardly would be prohibitive."

Engineering News-Record points out that millions of dollars have been allocated for landscaping highways and contends that a few more millions for wider bridges would be a better investment.

"There is an urgent traffic-growth factor to be considered," it says. "Widening a bridge after it has been built is expensive and troublesome."

"Economic studies, putting even more value on safety and the assured future growth factors, will justify construction of wider bridges."

Burglar Takes $500, Sets Fire To E-Town Office
ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. — More than $500 was taken from a safe in an insurance company office on fire.

A hole was burned in the floor near the safe and the fire was discovered at 4 a. m. by Telford Cook, a miner driving by on his way to work at Rosiclare. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

The safe was in an old brick house occupied by the George Jenkins Insurance Co. An attempt had been made to knock the combination off and open the door but this failed.

The safe was then turned over on its side and a pick was used to knock a hole in the bottom. Jenkins said there was more money in the top of the safe but the burglars could not get at it from the bottom. He said two boxes of 38 caliber cartridges also were taken.

Arrest Man Wanted For Questioning In Slaying of Boys
NEW YORK (AP)—A man wanted for questioning in the slaying of three Chicago schoolboys was arrested by New York police today when he arrived by plane from Europe.

William Rexroad Brooke, 39, was arrested on a homicide warrant by a squad of 18 New York and airport police officers as he stepped from a KLM Royal Dutch Airline plane.

King Saud Gets Hearty Welcome From President

Arab Monarch Is Personally Greeted at Airport

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrived here for a state visit today and received a "hearty welcome" from President Eisenhower.

The President personally greeted the bearded, bespectacled monarch of six million Arabs as he stepped from the plane which flew him here from New York.

"Your Majesty, on behalf of the American people, I heartily welcome you to the United States," Mr. Eisenhower said. "We recognize in you a great leader of the Arab people and the custodian of the cities most sacred to Islam. We are honored by your visit."

The welcome was in contrast to the snub the visiting monarch received Tuesday from Mayor Robert E. Wagner of New York.

Before he went to the airport, Mr. Eisenhower alluded to that snub by telling his news conference he deplored any discourtesy shown official visitors.

Saud arrived from New York in the presidential plane, Columbine III.

A Warm Greeting
"We were fortunate in counting your late father, His Majesty King Ibn Saud, as a friend of the United States," Mr. Eisenhower said. "We are equally fortunate in counting you as one."

"I look forward to the strengthening and reaffirmation of this valued friendship through the opportunity provided by this visit

Rush Flood Aid To Virginia-Kentucky Areas

POUND, Va. (AP)—Disaster teams rushed help today to marooned occupants of a dozen flooded, isolated towns near the Virginia-Kentucky border.

At least one person was known dead and three others were missing in tempestuous floods caused by four days of heavy rain in the upper Cumberland River basin.

Estimated damage ran into millions of dollars.

Hundreds of other persons had fled their homes Tuesday before the water suddenly rose to levels up to 20 feet in the streets and gushed through homes and stores in other communities.

A wall of water swirled through the mountain gorges into Virginia, wrecking 150 homes in Pound alone, and at one time stood 16 feet deep in the streets. Nearly all the 1,200 residents fled to school house and church refuges on high ground.

Cordy Ward was making heavy motions under the bed covers. "Oh, dear!" sighed Cass. "Backy came on the double. Now, Miss Cordy, you quiet that!" she told the invalid.

Aunt Cordy fended her off with an uplifted palm. Her face was brick red, her eyes bulged. "Wait!" she screamed.

"Mrs. Ward, please..." protested Lenoire Black, remaining where she was.

She stood aside and watched Cass and Backy attempt to quiet Aunt Cordy. But their efforts were met only by unintelligible sounds of rage, and a glistening redness of her face. Saliva flecked her lips and chin; she began to perspire heavily.

"Really," murmured Miss Black then, "this is very bad for her." Cass explained, "I told Miss Black that my husband thought she should not do so much for his mother."

"An' Miss Cordy, she think different!" declared Backy. "You gwine have to stay now, Miss Lenoire."

Later, Alex decided that Cass might as well let Miss Black come in whenever she wanted to. He sighed and slumped into his chair. "And so you gave in to her."

"I shouldn't have, but..." "But you did. However, Alex--"

"I do feel that I might point out to you that you have been most unreasonable--on both items."

Alex considered the charge. "Yes," he agreed then. "But Cass, I'm a somewhat confused man these days."

"I know," she agreed. "Your mother--"

"Oh, it isn't only that. Now, of course, I'm sorry as all get-out that this happened to her. I couldn't be sorrier! But--well, it did complicate my life, too. Her stroke came at the very time when I was ready to pull out from the Springs. Then--I couldn't leave her; so I decided I might as well stay on there. But, Cass, you've no idea of what a mess it is. Politics, jealousy--Francy and Mildred Muir both trying to run the place--the personnel taking advantage of the situation. One gets in trouble with Francy and appeals to Mildred. Francy has taken a violent dislike to Pagano here in town, and we often need to call on the guy, especially with Matt acting the way he does."

Cass laughed. "What about Matt? I mean, is there something new?"

"Not new," said Alex soberly. "Same old thing. He consistently turns up missing at the wrong times. But today I wished he'd stayed away a little longer."

"Alex, if you'd leave, what would happen at the Springs? Would Matt..."

"Reform? I doubt it. They'd get in another surgeon who might or might not stand for the same situation I'm in. Maybe they'd get a better man..."

"And of course Sue does surgery..."

"Yes, and she's been working. But there's another problem, Cass. I've been trying my level best to save the girl..." He broke off, his lips pressed thinly together.

"From what, Alex?" asked Cass in wonder. "You've been trying to save Sue from what?"

He shook his head, and Cass persisted no further. She knew that he would not tell her more--at this time.

"Things here at home," Alex resumed after a time, "are in a considerable mess, too. I worry about Aunt Cordy--not so much as to whether she will die, as I do about the way she is going to live. I worry about my sister."

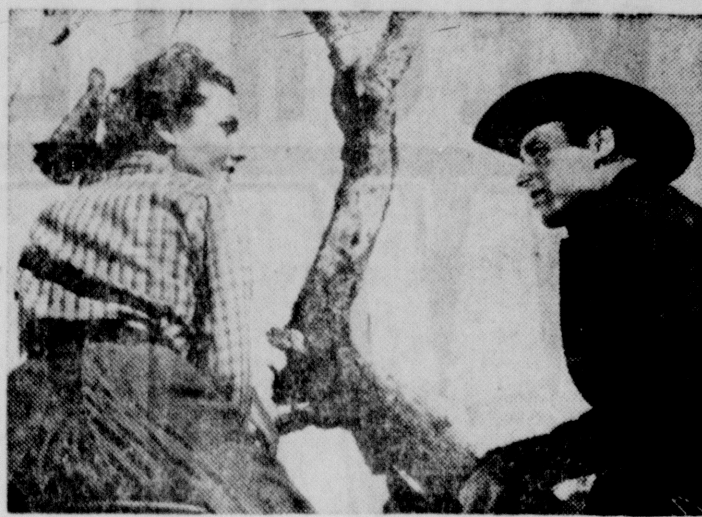

"And about your wife?" Cass dropped the words like clear glass beads, tinkling faintly.

Alex lifted his head, his eyes widened and darkened. Then he was on his feet and at her side. "Oh, sweetheart!" he said contritely. "I know you've been wonderful--that you are being wonderful! I realize the load you are carrying. I know you didn't have any real obligation to take it on your shoulders! But--just the same--I'm still a bridegroom, and my bride doesn't seem to have much time for me lately. I--it's as if you had settled too firmly behind the wheel of that car you're driving, and often it seems as if you'd never get out of it!"

Two Greater Egyptian conference teams went outside the league Tuesday night for action with league-leading Rosiclar winning and Pope County taking a loss.

Six Rosiclar Bears hit in double figures and three scored 23 or more points Tuesday night in a 124-63 rout of Brookport.

Topping the high scoring Rosiclar team was Norman Conger with 10 fielders and six free tosses for a total of 26 points. Terry Nelson was next in line with 25 and Charles Seay had 23.

Others in double figures were Don Seay 16, Kenny Ramsey 19, and Neal Smith 12.

In the season's opener Rosiclar was forced all the way by Brookport before taking a 66-64 decision.

Pope County high lost to invading Metropolis 67-60. Pacing the night's scoring was Pope's Ferrell with 20. Humma topped Metropolis' point-making with 18.

Billikins Trip Aggies, 49-45; Irish Win, 94-82

By United Press

St. Louis and Wake Forest, two mighty good teams that have been forced to play "second fiddle" so far in their own leagues, launched twin drives today for a bigger share of basketball glory.

The St. Louis Billikens, ranked 16th nationally but overshadowed by 11th-ranked Bradley, racked up an important 49-45 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies Tuesday night at Stillwater, Okla., to shove their season record to an excellent 12-5.

Wake Forest, ranked 14th nationally but faced with the tough task of beating top-ranked North Carolina, notched an impressive 77-59 victory over Duke at Winston-Salem, N. C., to make its record 13-3.

These victories over high-ranked foes stole the spotlight Tuesday night from Louisville, the nation's No. 6 team, which walloped Loyola of the South, 79-53, for its ninth straight victory and also a 13-3 record.

The St. Louis victory moved the Billikens into a second-place tie with Wichita in the Missouri Valley league at 5-1, only one game behind Bradley. And St. Louis and Bradley still are scheduled to meet twice next month, on Feb. 13 and 23.

In other leading games last night: John McCarthy scored 35 points and Tom Hawkins 30 to lead Notre Dame to a 94-82 victory over Indiana as Archie Dees led the losers with 24; North Carolina State romped to an 80-63 win over Virginia in the Atlantic Coast Conference despite 19 points by Virginia's Bob Hardy.

Dorrisville, Galatia Win Opening Round Games in Tournament

Dorrisville and Galatia, pre-tourney favorites, won opening round games in the Midget conference tournament at Galatia Tuesday night.

Dorrisville won by a decisive 55-27 margin over Muddy, but host Galatia had to overcome a third quarter lead by Ridgway before gaining a 40-32 verdict.

Tonight Dorrisville meets Broughton and Galatia faces Raleigh.

The championship round of play is listed for Thursday night.

Eddie Machen Rated No. 2 Heavyweight Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Machen, fast-rising kayo specialist from Redding, Calif., was rated the No. 2 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title today in the monthly rankings of Ring Magazine.

Machen, who scored his 20th straight victory when he out-pointed ex-light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim last Friday night, was ranked immediately behind New York's Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. Machen was rated the No. 5 heavyweight contender in Ring's December rankings.

In the reshuffling of the heavyweight contenders, Ring elevated Harold Carter of Linden, N. J., to the No. 3 spot and dropped light heavyweight King Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., to No. 4. Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, La., is fifth and Bob Satterfield of Chicago is sixth.

Yolande Pompey of Trinidad rose to the No. 2 spot in the light-heavyweight ratings on the basis of his second-round knockout of European champion Gerhard Hecht.

Tennis Star Shirley Fry to Wed Son of Illinois Minister

POLO, Ill. (AP)—Shirley Fry, U. S. women's tennis star, will be married Feb. 16 in Sydney, Australia, to Karl Irvin Jr., TV executive and son of a Polo, Ill., minister, it was announced Tuesday.

The prospective groom's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Karl Irvin, Sr., made the announcement.

Irvin, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church here, said the wedding would take place in a Methodist church in Sydney. He said he and his wife did not plan to attend the wedding.

Miss Fry, who previously won the 1956 U. S. and Wimbledon championships, will not defend either title in 1957 and did not plan to tour the tennis circuit, Irvin said.

"She plans to become a housewife," he said.

Irvin said his son was participating in groundwork for commercial television introduced this year in Australia. He said the newly weds will remain in Sydney for the next three or four years.

The minister said he met the tennis star in Chicago a year ago, but added that Mrs. Irvin has never met her. The groom is a graduate of Northwestern University and the University of Chicago and has taught in two Chicago schools, Irvin said.

Stan Musial Signs $80,000 Contract; Tigers Come To Terms with Al Kaline

By United Press

Stan (The Man) Musial was still the highest paid player in the National League today and just as determined to prove he is the league's best batter.

Musial signed his 1957 contract late Tuesday for a reported $80,000, the same figure he got last year although his batting average dropped nine points to .310 from 1956. He was the last of the 42 players on the St. Louis Cardinals winter roster to sign.

Musial, who holds the highest lifetime slugging record of .578 and more miscellaneous records than any other player in the league, said he is sure, "the way I feel right now," he will capture the circuit's batting title for the seventh time this year.

Three NL Clubs Active

Three other National League clubs, the Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Phillies, and Pittsburgh Pirates, also were active in the contract department today.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers completed signing their regulars when right fielder Al Kaline came to terms on the second attempt at a reported $30,000.

Kaline signed after a Tuesday night meeting with General Manager Spike Briggs and Johnny McHale, director of player personnel. "I got a very good increase," said the 22-year-old Tiger star who is one of the few players to make the big hop from high school sandlot to a starting position with a major league team.

High Priced Bengal

Although the Tigers do not disclose contract prices, Kuenn reportedly is the highest-paid Bengal.

The Cubs ran their total of players signed to 21 with pacts from third baseman Ray Jablonski, who was obtained during the winter from Cincinnati after hitting .256 for the Redlegs, and pitchers Don Kaiser (4-9) and Dave Stenhouse, a rookie who led the Class C Evangeline League last year with a 16-4 record.

The Phillies also signed three for a total of 13—first baseman Marv Blaylock, who hit .254; and outfielders Bob Bowman, who hit .278 for Miami of the International League, and Jim Davis, who batted .304 for Schenectady of the Eastern League.

Marty Marion Seeks Franchise For ProCage Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Marty Marion, "bitten by the basketball bug" after 20 years in baseball, left for Louisville with a business associate today to explore the possibilities of obtaining a National Basketball Assn. franchise in that city.

Marion and his business partner, Milton Fischmann of St. Louis, conferred with NBA President Maurice Podoloff here Tuesday night and were told by him that their "prospects are very good" for securing a franchise.

Marion, the one-time "Mr. Shortstop" who later managed the St. Louis Cardinals, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox, and Fischmann also plan to determine the possibility of acquiring a franchise in Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Cleveland or Pittsburgh.

House Proposal Asks Probe of Power Rates

SPRINGFIELD — A southern Illinois representative called today for a legislative investigation of electric power rates in the southern third of the state and the possible effect of these rates on economic growth of the area.

Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton) introduced a House resolution to authorize the investigation by a House committee of five members from districts in the southern third of the state.

"The committee shall investigate the cost of electricity and power... the difference in cost in this area and the cost in other areas of this and other adjacent states... and to what extent the cost of power and electricity is reflected in higher prices..." the resolution said.

Baker said a number of both Democratic and Republican representatives joined him in sponsoring the resolution.

Under the resolution if passed, the committee also would attempt to find to "what extent the cost of power and electricity is a factor in causing industries and businesses to cease operation in this area, and to what extent said cost is otherwise affecting and impeding the economic growth and development of the area."

The committee would have subpoena power and would report its findings by May 15.

A-Commission Reports Need For Expansion

WASHINGTON — The Atomic Energy Commission said today that A-bomb and H-bomb production is swelling at a rate that necessitates multi-million-dollar expansion of its farflung weapons plant.

It also reported "new design principles"—stemming from last year's H-bomb tests—"which will lead to more efficient weapons that can be more effectively employed."

This apparently means the once outsize hydrogen weapon has been tailored to missiles and bombs for a variety of military uses other than mere destruction of cities.

The commission also claimed "a notable advance" toward nuclear propulsion of aircraft. For the first time, it said, a turbojet plane engine was powered with atomic heat in a ground test.

These were highlights of the AEC's 21st semiannual report in which it said "significant progress" was made in the last six months toward fulfillment of President Eisenhower's international atoms for peace program.

As a special feature the commission published a five-chapter report on "radiation safety" in the U. S. atomic project. Although 331 persons have received "overexposures" in the past 13 years, the project nevertheless has hung up a safety record "without parallel in industrial history," the AEC said.

Of the 331 persons, 290 received their overexposures from the big H-bomb shot in the Pacific on March 1, 1954. The other 41, two of whom died in 1945, received theirs in "radiation incidents" at atomic installations in the United States. In this country no member of the public has been hurt by radiation.

The United States still leads the free world in production of uranium, the atomic raw material. In the past half year it stockpiled more nuclear fuels and explosives than ever before in a like period.

Chests Expanding

NEW YORK (AP) — American women are busting out of their raincoats, the Almar Manufacturing Co. reported today. The company said it had increased the frontal expansion of its medium size raincoats to 40 inches to rectify the situation. Its surveys show the average American woman's chest measurement is an inch and a half larger than in 1947.
